

Abstract of the Disclosure

A hair clipping device includes a motor, an electrostatic ion generator, a power cord, a switch and an indicating light, all housed within an elongated plastic housing and an opening in the housing for the discharge of the ions positioned so that the ions are directed towards the hair being trimmed.